Teach Catan: Cities & Knights in ten minutes

3 to 4 (5 to 6 with the extension) players · 90 to 120 minutes · Ages 12 and up

The goal: Be the first to reach 13 victory points on your turn, while helping hold off the barbarians.

On your turn

1. Roll all 3 dice. Resolve the event die first.
2. Ship: barbarians move 1 space. A gate: check your matching track for a progress card.
3. Produce. Cities on forest, pasture, and mountains take 1 resource and 1 commodity.
4. On a 7: discard half above 7 cards. No robber until the first attack.
5. Then trade, build, and play progress cards in any order.
6. Knights: recruit for wool and ore, promote for wool and ore, activate for grain.
7. Walls cost 2 brick. Improvements cost 1 to 5 paper, cloth, or coin.

Three tips for your first game

1. Keep enough knights active to match the cities on the board.
2. Build cities early. Commodities only come from cities.
3. Push one improvement track toward a metropolis.

Setup

1. Remove the development cards, Largest Army, and base sea frame 1-2. Use the barbarian track frame.
2. Ship on the track's start. Robber waits beside the track's last space.
3. Resources and commodities face up. Three progress decks shuffled, face down.
4. Each player: improvement board, a cube at the bottom of each track, knights, walls.
5. Round 1: settlement and road. Round 2, in reverse: a city and road.
6. Take 1 resource for each hex next to your city.

Scoring

- Settlement 1, city 2, metropolis 2 more.
- Longest Route 2. Merchant 1.
- Each Defender VP token 1. Each VP progress card 1.
- Barbarians win: lowest knight total loses a city.
- Knights win: top defender takes a VP token.

Game end: The game ends the moment a player has 13 or more victory points on their own turn.
