THE LUDARIUM · TEACH SHEET

Teach SETI: Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence in ten minutes

1 to 4 players · About 40 minutes per player · Ages 14 and up

The goal: Score the most points in five rounds by exploring the solar system, scanning stars, analyzing data, and finding alien life.

On your turn

1. Take 1 main action: launch, orbit, land, scan, analyze, play a card, research a tech, or pass.
2. Free actions any time on your turn: move (1 energy each), place data, missions, trades, buy a card.
3. Launch 2 credits. Orbit 1 credit, 1 energy. Land 3 energy, or 2 if the planet has an orbiter.
4. Scan 1 credit, 2 energy. Analyze 1 energy with a full top row. Research a tech: 6 publicity.
5. Research a tech or be the first to pass: rotate the solar system first.
6. Passing: discard to 4 cards, then pick an end-of-round card in rounds 1 to 4.

Three tips for your first game

1. Tuck cards for income early. Every tuck pays again each round.
2. Before you research or pass first, check which disc turns next and where it pushes probes.
3. Read an alien species' rules only when it is discovered.

Setup

1. Build the main board. Randomize the three discs and four sector boards so eight sectors line up.
2. Place 2 random alien boards face down. Fill every star's data slot with data tokens.
3. Deal a 3-card row. Put the 4 gold tiles out, random side up. Stack techs with a 2-point tile on each.
4. Make 4 end-of-round stacks of players plus 1 cards. Neutral markers at 20 and 30 if under 4 players.
5. Scores start at 1, 2, 3, 4 by seat. Everyone: 4 publicity, 4 credits, 3 energy, 5 cards.
6. Each player tucks 1 card under their income card and gains its resource now.

Scoring

- Points come during play: orbits, landings, sectors, techs, data, missions, and discovery.
- At 25, 50, and 70 points, mark a gold tile. Earlier markers take bigger values.
- Final scoring: end-of-game cards, then gold tiles. Some species add a step.

Game end: The game ends after round 5. Score end-of-game cards and gold tiles; the most points wins, and ties are shared.

Free to print and share. Free course: theludarium.com/academy/seti/
Unofficial. Not affiliated with Czech Games Edition or the SETI Institute. SETI: Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence is a game by Tomáš Holek, published by Czech Games Edition. Rules as of the SETI rulebook, English (Czech Games Edition, October 2024), with the official FAQ and cards clarification (version BGG 11.2024).